

End the Madness

This beautiful blue orb is our home World: Planet Earth. This is where all our hopes and dreams for a brighter future: a future without wars or poverty, famine and disease are focussed. This is the panoramic stage upon which all our aspirations are to be made manifest.

Such is the dream.

The reality is somewhat different. All the signs are telling us that our beautiful blue orb is about to be transformed into a nightmare world where the survivors of a nuclear holocaust tear each other to pieces fighting over the smouldering remains of a once beneficent Mother Earth.

This is a terrible vision of what awaits us all if we do not – right now – take control of our own destiny.

We cannot, any longer, entrust our fate to the political elites of our world. We now know that they haven't got our best interests at heart. That their allegiances lie elsewhere: with the rich and powerful; whose ranks they hope – that by selling us out – they can join.

It is time for us to act. It is time for us to join together and send the elites: the one per cent, a clear and unequivocal message. That being: we will not fight your wars for you. We are no longer prepared to kill each other so that you can become richer and the power you hold over us becomes stronger.

We reject your power; and we hold you beneath contempt.

If we can do this one thing together, believe me, we can change our world.

Please sign my petition: End the Madness.

It is hosted on Change.org: and it will only take a few minutes of your precious time.

Please use this link:

[http://www.change.org/petitions/end-the-madness?
utm_campaign=petition_created_email&utm_medium=email&utm_source=guides](http://www.change.org/petitions/end-the-madness?utm_campaign=petition_created_email&utm_medium=email&utm_source=guides)

Many thanks

pd

So let's take it back from those that would destroy it.